

Wasson

Greg Wasson: Walgreens is much more than a drugstore chain we are part of the communities we serve and we share their values and objectives. Good health, a close community spirit and a healthy environment. We are absolutely committed to supporting individual, organizations, and neighborhoods as they strive to achieve these goals. Ours is a culture of care and I think you'll see as you visit the pages of this website that Walgreens and our team members take our Social Responsibilities to heart through charitable contributions, volunteerism, environmental initiatives, and diversity and inclusion. And we do that with a spirit of caring and compassion. Thanks for visiting our website today.

((Under music))