The opioid epidemic has reached a critical point in America.

Drugs that are prescribed legally to teens and young adults for pain relief after major injuries and surgeries can often fall into the wrong hands and become addictive in nature. Walgreens, together with teen community leaders, is committed to ending the epidemic through education and preventative measures. Let’s be part of the generation that ends this horrific epidemic of opioid addiction.

Learn more at Walgreens.com/ItEndsWithUs